INTRODUCTION

Cartels

Cartels are agreements made between competitors to engage in illegal arrangements such as price fixing, market sharing or customer allocation, production limitation, and bid rigging. Cartels are harmful to consumers and customers because they result in increased prices and reduced choices. Cartels can also have a negative impact on economic growth and innovation, especially when they prevent new competitors from entering the market and lead to an increase in public investment costs. More importantly, cartels are considered to be the most serious violation of competition law all over the world and, as a result, fighting them has become a priority for competition agencies worldwide. Cartel activities are subject to heavy fines for both undertakings1 and individuals, and in some jurisdictions, to criminal sanctions including imprisonment.

Leniency programmes

Cartels are usually difficult to detect and to investigate. Cooperation from cartel participants is key to uncovering and punishing the illegal practices. Today most jurisdictions have developed programmes that offer a whistleblower (a cartel participant which provides information and evidence of a cartel and cooperates with the agency to detect and prove the infringement) a reduced fine or even total immunity from a fine imposed on a company active in a cartel including its employees. These programmes, known as “leniency programmes” or “leniency policies”, help competition agencies to have access to first-hand evidence, and to uncover and eliminate secret cartels. A leniency programme sets forth the framework for rewarding a cartel participant which is willing to cooperate with a competition agency.

The meaning of the terms “leniency”, “immunity”, and “amnesty” differs among jurisdictions. In this manual the term “immunity” refers to a full (100%) reduction of fine and the term “reduction of fines” refers to a reduction of fine lower than full immunity. The term “leniency” is used to describe both immunity and a fine reduction. The term “amnesty”2 describes immunity from all sanctions. The term “leniency policy” or “leniency programme” refers to the set of rules in the form of a legal act or guidelines adopted by the competition agency governing the leniency process.

Immunity can only be granted to the first-in applicant which provides a competition agency with information about the cartel activity. Most leniency programmes offer immunity to the first applicant that reports cartel activity before the commencement of an investigation. However, some leniency programmes also grant immunity to the first-in applicants that report the cartel after the start of the investigation in cases where the agency does not possess sufficient evidence to prove the infringement and the applicant can offer such evidence.

Leniency programmes also apply to subsequent applicants which, should they provide a given competition agency with substantial new evidence, can obtain a reduced fine. Depending on the timing of the application and the quality of the evidence submitted, the extent of the fine reduction differs from jurisdiction to jurisdiction, varying between 10% and 50% of the fine that would otherwise be imposed on an applicant. In some countries, the order of the applicants is a decisive factor. It means that the sooner the applicant approaches the competition agency and submits the evidence of the infringement the greater the reduction of fine it can obtain (e.g. in many jurisdictions the first applicant to provide new evidence can benefit from fine reduction of 30-50%, the second 20-30% and the other applicants would have their fine reduced by 20% maximum). However, in some jurisdictions (e.g. European Union) the leniency programmes aim to maintain the race between the applicants for reduction of fines and attach greater importance to the value of the evidence submitted—then in order to qualify for higher band of the fine reduction the applicant does not only have to be the first to apply for fine reduction but also to be the first to submit the evidence constituting significant added value. Otherwise, the applicant that applies later but submits the evidence reaching the threshold of significant added value will benefit from a higher percentage of reduction. The exact level of fine reduction an undertaking will obtain within the certain band, to which it has been assigned, is usually determined in a final decision ending the proceedings and depends mainly on the total value of cooperation of each applicant. The reduction of fines is also granted to applicants which, for a number of reasons, do not qualify for immunity (e.g. coercers, cartel ringleaders3).

1 In this document, the term “undertaking” refers to any entity engaged in any commercial activity.

2 “Amnesty” is often used in the United States.

Apart from submission of information and evidence, the applicant must meet other requirements in order to be granted immunity or a fine reduction. Generally, the applicant must cease its participation in a cartel (usually immediately after the application is filed unless the competition agency decides differently, and sometimes no later than the time of the application), refrain from disclosing the facts in the application or any part of it, and cooperate with the agency during the investigation and court proceedings.

Very often the applicant will be granted conditional leniency first. In such cases its full cooperation with the competition agency during the time of the investigation will be necessary in order to obtain a final leniency decision—leniency is often granted in the decision issued by the agency at the end of the proceedings in a given case. In jurisdictions where leniency is granted in the form of an agreement signed between the agency and the applicant, the agency generally has the right to terminate the agreement and revoke the leniency if the applicant does not comply with the requirements set in the agreement, or if it does not cooperate fully and continuously with the competition agency throughout the proceedings.

Exclusion

Certain applicants are not eligible for leniency, immunity, or a fine reduction, and the exclusion varies from country to country. Indeed, in many jurisdictions, any entity which coerced other firms to participate in a cartel activity cannot be granted immunity or even a fine reduction. In other places, the exclusion also applies to the cartel ringleaders.

Marker

In principle, when a leniency application is filed, the applicant must join to it all cartel-related information including any supporting evidence based on an evidentiary threshold. This is known as formal (full) application. Collecting the required evidence can be a long process. In some cases an applicant can obtain a marker before the formal application is filed. A marker confirms the applicant’s place in the queue for leniency and sets a time limit for the submission of information and evidence that meet the relevant threshold for leniency.

An applicant which has not yet substantiated the formal application can file a shortened version (request for marker), which includes general information about the cartel. Most often, the applicant must disclose its identity in order to obtain a marker. However, in some countries, a marker could be granted as a result of an anonymous contact (e.g. by phone).

If a competition agency accepts a shortened application, then the applicant will be granted a marker. If the applicant provides an agency with all the necessary information and evidence within the period set by the agency, the completed formal application will reflect the date on which the marker was granted.

It is possible that a marker can be granted to the first-in applicant only. In such cases the status of non-first-in applicants (i.e. subsequent applicants) will be put on hold until the agency takes a position on the first application. If the first application is not accepted and the applicant is not granted conditional immunity, a subsequent application for immunity will be considered by the agency. Otherwise, the subsequent applicants will not be eligible for full immunity, and a fine reduction will be the only outcome.

In jurisdictions where a marker can be granted to subsequent applicants, applications are processed simultaneously, and again, the timing of the filing, the disclosure and the credibility of the evidence are key in obtaining immunity or defining the amount of the fine reduction. However, it is important to note that not all leniency programmes provide for a marker system.

3 The term “ringleaders” is used to describe any entity that initiated or led a cartel.
Leniency plus

Leniency plus regulation (sometimes called “amnesty plus”) is becoming increasingly popular in leniency programmes. Under leniency plus, an applicant which is eligible for a fine reduction in relation to a cartel in a particular market and is the first-in to inform the agency about another cartel taking place in a separate market, will obtain total immunity in relation to the second cartel and an additional fine reduction in relation to the first cartel.

Leniency for individuals

Leniency applicants can be undertakings and/or individuals such as a company’s board members, managers, or other employees. As individuals can be held liable for competition law infringements, they can also apply for leniency and do so independently from the undertaking. There is usually “one queue” for leniency applicants regardless of whether they are individuals or undertakings. An individual must fulfill the same requirements as an undertaking in order to obtain leniency. The individual can benefit from the application filed by the undertaking and be eligible for a so-called “derivative leniency”. In most jurisdictions an application made by an undertaking also covers its employees provided that the latter cooperate with the agency during the time of the investigation.

Summary leniency applications in the European Union

In the European Union, summary applications may be used in cases concerning more than three European Union Member States. If a full application has been filed with the European Commission, national competition agencies can grant provisional protection to the applicant on the basis of very limited information. Should any of the national competition agencies pursue the case, the applicant will be given additional time to complete its application. A marker sought through a summary application protects the applicant’s position under the respective national leniency programme and operates as an indefinite marker, in particular during the case allocation phase. Summary applications are accepted in most Member States and can be submitted in English (either throughout the entire procedure or accompanied by a translation into the official language at a later stage).

Independence of particular leniency programmes

Leniency programmes are autonomous and independent of other national programmes. A leniency application filed with one competition agency will be considered as official in that jurisdiction only. In the case of multi-jurisdictional applications, maintaining the same material scope of the application is essential otherwise an applicant may face the risk of being granted immunity in one country and being fined in another. Furthermore, the same level of protection should be maintained in the participating jurisdiction. Today there is a lack of a common leniency application system at the European Union level which implies that applications submitted to the European Commission and the summary applications filed with national competition agencies are assessed independently. National agencies have no obligation to interpret the summary application with respect to the application submitted to the European Commission.

How to use the ICC Leniency Manual?

The ICC Leniency Manual starts with an outline of the generic leniency application process then delves into the specific filing requirements in targeted countries. The countries are organized in chapters listed in alphabetical order for easy reference. Each chapter features a factsheet which includes a list of issues that the leniency applicant should think about when considering filing an application in a specific country together with a short description of leniency in that country. Furthermore, each chapter provides a colour-coded flowchart which aims to guide the user through each stage of a leniency application process from the very initial contact with the competition agency to its final decision.

A reference guide or aide-mémoire designed to explain the basic requirements under a generic leniency application is provided at the end of the manual and should be used as a companion to the flowcharts.
Generally, in order to benefit from a leniency programme an applicant must take the following steps:

Marker request
At the time of the request for a marker a brief description of conduct must be submitted including:
- applicant’s identity
- parties to the agreement
- products, services affected
- geographic scope
- duration

In addition, detailed information about: the circumstances under which an agreement was concluded, the role of each participant, and the scope and circumstances of cooperation must be provided with the formal (full) application.

Submission of information and evidence
The value of the evidence to be submitted by the applicant depends on the time and order of the application. The evidence thresholds are:
- First applicant—before commencement of the investigation or any formal actions: information about the cartel conduct and evidence enabling the initiation of the proceedings and / or carrying out of inspection
- First applicant—after commencement of the investigation or any formal actions: evidence enabling proof of cartel conduct / enabling finding of infringement / evidence enabling the progress of the inspection (if it has not been conducted yet)
- Subsequent applicants: evidence having significant added value to the case, information unknown to the authorities

Requirements
In order to benefit from a leniency programme, the applicant must:
- end its participation in the cartel (before submitting an application or immediately after depending on the jurisdiction. Sometimes the agency can decide differently and will ask the cartel participant not to put a sudden end to its participation in order to avoid raising any suspicion)
- refrain from disclosing the existence of the application and any of its content
- comply with the duty to cooperate

Cooperation
The applicant is required to cooperate with the agency throughout the proceedings, also after submitting the application. The most important elements of cooperation include:
- attending meetings with the competition agency
- submitting statements, evidence, documents and information
- ensuring employees, managers, and directors are available for interviews
- not destroying, falsifying or concealing the evidence
- answering the agency’s requests
- conducting an internal investigation (sometimes)
GENERIC LENIENCY APPLICATION PROCESS

In jurisdictions where a marker can only be granted to the first-in applicant, the flowcharts introduce two processes: one for the first-in applicant who can be given a marker and another one for subsequent applicants. The status of non-first-in applicants is put on hold until the agency takes a position on the first application. If the first application is not accepted and the applicant is not granted conditional immunity, a subsequent application for immunity will be considered. Otherwise, the subsequent applicants will not be eligible for full immunity but only for a fine reduction.

In jurisdictions where a marker can also be granted to subsequent applicants, there is a single process, as illustrated in the flowchart to the right, as the applications are handled simultaneously. However, in both cases, it is common practice to submit an alternative application i.e. to apply for immunity and to ask the competition agency, in the event immunity is not granted, to process the application as the application for a fine reduction. The key stages of a leniency application include:

Initial contact—the applicant can usually contact the competition agency anonymously and seek information about the application process, or sometimes even about the availability of a marker.

Request for a marker—a shortened application which includes general information about the cartel along with a request for additional time to submit a formal application.

Formal application—full application containing all the relevant information and supporting evidence with the difference depending on the required Evidence threshold.

Evidence threshold—the evidence that has to be submitted by the applicant depending on whether the applicant seeks immunity before the commencement of an investigation or any formal actions, or after the commencement of investigation or any formal actions, or whether the applicant seeks a fine reduction.

Confirmation of receipt—confirmation of submission of the application in the form of a request for a marker or formal application or confirmation of submission of evidence, specifying the time and date of the submission of the application or information / evidence.

Conditional leniency—conditional assurance that the requirements for leniency are met, and issued after initial assessment of the application in the form of a conditional leniency agreement, conditional leniency letter or conditional confirmation of compliance with the conditions, depending on the jurisdiction. The decision is conditional upon fulfilment of the requirements and cooperation with the agency.

Final decision on leniency—a final decision of the competition agency or court depending on the jurisdiction and whether the requirements and duty of cooperation are fulfilled. The final decision can also take the form of a leniency agreement.

Throughout the proceedings, applicant(s) must cooperate and comply with requirements.

The European Commission will not consider other applications for immunity from fines before it has taken a position on an existing application in relation to the same alleged infringement. Irrespective of whether the immunity application is presented formally or whether a marker is requested. If the application for immunity is not accepted, the European Commission will contact the subsequent marker applicants.

It is also possible to submit a hypothetical application for immunity. A marker and a hypothetical application cannot be combined due to their different purposes and features. The hypothetical application is available to allow companies to ascertain whether the evidence in their possession would meet the immunity threshold before disclosing their identity or the infringement. The undertaking must present full information and evidence but without disclosing its identity. A marker is granted to protect the place in the queue of an applicant which has not yet gathered all the evidence. To obtain a marker the undertaking must provide some details of the cartel and other general information including the identity of the applicant.

Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant which informs the European Commission of a cartel and provides evidence that enables the European Commission to conduct an inspection or to prove the cartel infringement. Undertakings which do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the European Commission.

The European Commission will evaluate the final position of each undertaking which filed an application for a reduction of a fine at the end of the administrative procedure in any decision adopted. A marker is granted to protect the place in the queue of an applicant which has not yet gathered all the evidence. To obtain a marker the undertaking must provide some details of the cartel and other general information including the identity of the applicant.

Requirements for Australia
- Termination of participation: the applicant has either ceased its participation or indicates that it will cease it.

In Australia immunity or a fine reduction is granted under the ACCC’s immunity and cooperation policy for cartel conduct. Immunity is only available to the first-in-applicant. A subsequent party may still seek leniency (fine reduction) by cooperating with the ACCC under its cooperation policy. The ACCC is responsible for granting civil immunity and the Commonwealth Director of Public Prosecutions (CDPP) is responsible for granting criminal immunity. The CDPP has yet to bring a criminal prosecution in Australia.

The policy applies to civil proceedings brought by the ACCC. However, the ACCC is also the first point of contact when seeking immunity from criminal proceedings from the CDPP. In order to benefit from the leniency programme the applicant must admit that its conduct may constitute a contravention(s) of the competition law. In the case of undertakings, admissions have to be a truly corporate act.

When the ACCC considers that an applicant meets the conditions for immunity, it will grant conditional civil immunity. The conditional civil immunity will become final at the conclusion of the proceedings being made against other cartel members. The ACCC will also make a recommendation to the CDPP that immunity from criminal prosecution be granted. The CDPP exercises an independent discretion when considering such a recommendation.

ACCC-initiated civil proceedings to a cooperating party.

Criminal proceedings: The CDPP will identify, by way of submissions to the sentencing court, any cooperation by the party with the ACCC or law enforcement agencies. Ultimately, the court will use its discretion in imposing a sentence or penalty for cartel conduct. The court will consider the degree to which the party has cooperated with law enforcement agencies in the investigation of the offence, or other offences.

Individuals and related corporate entities

Derivative immunity: If an undertaking qualifies for conditional immunity, it may seek derivative immunity for related corporate entities and / or current and former directors, officers and employees. Those parties must satisfy the criteria individually, in particular, cooperate with the ACCC, admit to their involvement in the cartel conduct and provide full, frank and truthful disclosure to the ACCC.

Individuals who apply for leniency individually must satisfy all the criteria for leniency. Immunity is available to directors, officers or employees who are, or were party to a cartel.

The second applicant which provides evidence that represents significant added value to the one already collected by the FNE may be granted a reduction of the fine. A successful leniency application may be filed even if the FNE has already begun an investigation or conducted an inspection in relation to the relevant conduct.

The FNE prosecutes cases before the Competition Tribunal, which is the only institution that can impose fines or remedies. However, the Competition Tribunal cannot fine an applicant which obtained full immunity or impose a higher fine than the one included in the FNE’s complaint unless it is established that the beneficiary initiated the cartel activity and coerced others to participate in it. DL 211 does not prohibit the second applicant to request the Competition Tribunal to reduce the fine requested by the FNE, on the basis of their cooperation with the FNE.

A leniency application can be made online, by phone or via e-mail. The FNE provides an application form on its website. After the application is submitted, a Nomination Meeting between the applicant and the FNE is scheduled. During the Nomination Meeting, the applicant will be given a marker, and the parties will also agree on the ways in which the applicant will provide evidence. The evidence will be provided in the Application of Benefits presented to FNE. The FNE shall not use that evidence in any current or future investigations, unless it is obtained outside of the leniency process.

Summary

For an application for immunity it is possible to request a marker. If the applicant submits a request for a marker and it fails to provide the requested information and evidence within the deadline, the CCA will consider that the application for immunity has never been submitted and it will be able to use all the information and evidence provided in the request for a marker.

Summary applications, as provided in the EU leniency programme, are not formally applicable in Croatia. However, they would not be disregarded and the CCA would consider them as a marker request and proceed in accordance with the local leniency programme.

Undertakings which do not qualify for immunity

May benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the CCA. In principle, the CCA will disregard the application for immunity / reduction of fines or the request for a marker, if these have been submitted after the adoption of a Statement of Objection.

Reduction in fines

Exclusion

Brief description of leniency
Immunity may be granted to the first applicant that informs the Office of a cartel and submits evidence that enables the Office to conduct an inspection or to prove the existence of the cartel.

Undertakings that do not qualify for full immunity may benefit from reduction in fine if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to that already collected by the Office.

An application for immunity must be submitted no later than a statement of objections is delivered. An application for a fine reduction must be submitted within 15 days following the delivery of the statement of objections.

If an application fulfills the conditions for full immunity, the Office shall conditionally confirm it to the applicant. If the conditions for full immunity are not met, the applicant may ask the Office to regard its request as an application for a reduction of fine.

An undertaking wishing to apply for full immunity may apply for a marker. The request must be justified (reasons why more time is needed to gather the necessary information and documents) and shall be considered at the Office’s discretion. If the Office grants the marker, it shall determine the period within which the applicant has to submit information and documents to qualify for full immunity.

Alternatively, an undertaking wishing to request full immunity may submit a hypothetical application. The undertaking may do so without disclosing its identity (e.g. through its counsel). The Office shall verify whether the list of hypothetical documents qualifies for immunity and inform the undertaking accordingly. Hypothetical application does not substitute a proper application, nor does it serve as a request for marker.

Successful application for leniency has also indirect impact on the criminal liability of individuals (managers). The active involvement of an individual in the successful application leads to the extinction of his/her criminal liability for the cartel.

Successful application for full immunity (only) also leads to the limitation of civil liability. The undertaking is, in principle, jointly and severally liable only to his direct or indirect purchasers and suppliers.

Brief description of leniency

Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant who informs the DCCA of a cartel and provides evidence that enables the DCCA to conduct an inspection / search or to prove the cartel infringement.

Applicants which do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the DCCA.

An application for leniency shall be submitted to the DCCA. However, in cases where charges are brought by the State Prosecutor for Serious Economic and International Crime (SPSEI), or an investigation has been conducted by the SPSEI, applications can be submitted to the SPSEI. There is no prescribed form of application for leniency, although the DCCA has a template for submission that applicants can use.

The DCCA recommends that an application be handed over in-person.

Both undertakings and individuals can apply for withdrawal of a charge that would otherwise have led to a fine. Individuals can also apply for withdrawal of a charge that would otherwise have led to imprisonment.

An application submitted by an undertaking automatically includes current and former board members, senior managers and other employees, provided that each individual meets the requirements for leniency.

An application for leniency submitted by a former employee or an employee without an agency to bind the undertaking does not automatically encompass the undertaking.

Former employees’ lack of cooperation with the competition authorities in cases where the undertaking has applied for leniency does not prevent the applicant from benefitting from leniency.

Brief description of leniency
Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant which informs the FCCA of a cartel and provides evidence that enables the FCCA to conduct an inspection or to prove the cartel infringement. The FCCA shall not proceed to investigate other applications for immunity relating to the same cartel before it has taken a position on whether immunity may be granted to the first undertaking which has applied for immunity.

Undertakings which do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the FCCA. The extent of the fine reduction depends essentially on two factors: the time of submission of the evidence important to the case and the value of this evidence.

Brief description of leniency
Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant who submits information and provides strong evidence of an infringement about which the FCA has no information and where in the FCA’s view the evidence submitted by the applicant provides a sufficient basis to carry out a dawn raid (Type 1A Immunity).

If the FCA has already the information on the alleged practices or has carried out a dawn raid, immunity may be granted for the first applicant who provides evidence sufficient to establish a competition law infringement (Type 1B Immunity).

Applicants which do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the FCA (Type 2 Partial Immunity).

Since 2015, a sliding scale of fine reduction is available to Type 2 leniency applicants:

- 25% to 50% (inclusive) reduction for the first company that provides significant added value.
- 15% to 40% (inclusive) reduction for the second company that provides significant added value.
- A maximum reduction of 25% for lower-ranking companies.

Individuals
An individual cannot apply for leniency independently of the company itself. The company is the sole beneficiary of the leniency application.

However, the FCA has stated that leniency is one of the legitimate reasons for not referring a case to the public prosecutor, so neither the company nor its employees would be subject to criminal proceedings. In any case, Article L.420-6 provides for criminal liability for anticompetitive practices, but is very rarely applied, except in cases of bid-rigging practices.

Brief description of leniency
The leniency programme only applies to the first undertaking that reports the cartel conduct. The applicant must apply for a marker by phone and provide its identity and general information about the cartel conduct. If the conditions are met, the Commission will give a marker confirming the time and date of the call. The Commission may issue one or more markers with respect to a specific cartel and as a result create a marker queue. A marker only provides confirmation of the applicant’s place in the queue for leniency only. If the Commission decides that leniency is available, the undertaking will be required to enter into a written leniency agreement. In the leniency agreement, the applicant will have to confirm that it will sign a statement of agreed facts admitting participation in the cartel and that it will implement the corporate compliance programme. The leniency agreement may be terminated if the Commission believes that the information provided by the undertaking is incomplete, false or misleading, or where the Commission considers that the undertaking has failed to comply with the terms of the leniency agreement. An undertaking that is not eligible for leniency may still cooperate with the Commission. The Commission may, at its own discretion, consider a lower level of enforcement action, including recommending a reduced fine to the Competition Tribunal or the making of an appropriate order. The leniency for the first-in applicant is granted by the Commission on the basis of the leniency agreement. With respect to the applicant not eligible for leniency, but which would still like to cooperate with the Commission, the fine reduction may be granted by the Competition Tribunal on the basis of the Commission’s recommendation. Individuals

Only an undertaking may apply for leniency. An undertaking may include a person engaged in an economic activity such as an individual operating as a sole trader. If the undertaking enters into a leniency agreement, the leniency extends to its current or former officers and employees, provided they cooperate with the agency during the investigation. The leniency extends also to former officers, employees and current or former agents of the undertaking specified in the leniency agreement.

Brief description of leniency
In Ireland, determinations of infringements of EU/Irish competition law are made only by courts in either civil or criminal proceedings. The CCPC has competence to investigate infringements and initiate court proceedings of a civil nature and, for minor cases, a criminal nature. Serious criminal cases can be prosecuted only at the discretion of the DPP.

The Cartel Immunity Programme allows the granting of conditional immunity from criminal prosecution for the offence of infringing (EU and/or Irish) competition law. It is available to the first cartel participant who comes forward and satisfies all the requirements of the Programme.

The CCPC will not consider second and subsequent applicants under the Programme. However, the subsequent applicants can approach the DPP directly in such cases. Second and subsequent applicants can also ask CCPC to have their position in a queue noted and consent to being contacted if the first applicant no longer requires immunity, has withdrawn from the programme or has its conditional immunity revoked.

The initial contact by an applicant is made by phone. An enquiry whether immunity is available can be made without disclosing the applicant’s identity. A contact name must be provided by the applicant or legal advisor to obtain a marker. Within an agreed period, the marker must be perfected by providing the CCPC with further information. If the information reveals a likely criminal offence which warrants a formal investigation the CCPC will recommend the DPP grants conditional immunity to the applicant.

The DPP is free to grant or refuse to grant the conditional immunity. After conditional immunity is granted, the applicant must provide full frank and truthful disclosure to CCPC which entails detailed information. Once the terms of the programme are satisfied (and any resulting prosecutions completed) a final grant of immunity will be executed by the DPP.

Individuals
Application can be made by an undertaking or separately by an individual who was involved in a cartel. If an undertaking qualifies for immunity, then so does its directors and employees whose involvement in the cartel is admitted.

Requirements
Throughout the proceedings, applicant(s) must cooperate and comply with requirements.

REQUIREMENTS FOR IRELAND:
Termination of participation: immediately after the application, unless the DPP and CCPC advise differently.

Description of leniency

The violations of the Restrictive Trade Practices Law, 5748-1988 constitute criminal offences. They may also lead to monetary sanctions imposed by the IAA. The IAA has discretion in deciding whether it will initiate criminal proceedings or impose monetary sanctions in a specific case but the implementation of such discretion must be in-line with published guidelines. Leniency programme grants protection only from the criminal prosecution, but not from the monetary sanctions. Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant which informs the IAA of a cartel and provides, in full, all evidence under its control and all information and evidence that later comes to its possession regarding the cartel, and only if such information and evidence have real substance. An applicant approaching the IAA has to provide it with sufficient details and information to review its suitability for the leniency programme. If the applicant is a corporation, the application must be made only after a clear and binding decision of the corporation to approach the IAA and to hand over the required information was taken.

If the IAA decides applicant is not suitable for immunity, the provided information will not be submitted as evidence against the applicant by the state if the application was made in good faith. A written agreement will be entered between the IAA and the applicant.

In cases where it is possible and suitable to compensate those that were harmed by the offence, the IAA will condition the immunity on such compensation.

Under the leniency programme in Israel, the applicant can only be granted immunity. There is no possibility to obtain a fine reduction under this programme. However, the subsequent applicants can be granted a reduction by the court issuing the verdict in criminal proceedings, at its own discretion. With regards to the monetary sanctions, they are determined by the IAA General Director, up to the maximum amounts described above, and based on considerations set specifically under the law and the guidelines. Such considerations are different than those set under the leniency programme and may include the turnover of the entity, the extent of the harm caused to the public, the duration of the breach of the violation, self-reporting and share in the sanctioned act, etc.

Individuals

If the undertaking meets all the requirements for the immunity, such immunity will be granted to the undertaking and to its managers and employees (except for employers and managers which do not fully cooperate with the IAA).

If no such application was made by the undertaking, each manager or employee at present or in the past can apply for personal immunity.

Brief description of leniency

Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant which informs the ICA of an undetected cartel and provides evidence that enables the ICA to prove the cartel infringement. The immunity may not be granted to the applicant if the ICA has already launched an investigation or is aware of the unlawful agreement.

Undertakings which do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the ICA. The appropriate reduction in the administrative fine is calculated on the basis of several elements including the promptness of the cooperation provided by the applicant at a given stage. The extent of the other undertakings' cooperation and the relevance of the information and documents provided play a role in determining the fine reduction.

Multiple applications for leniency concerning the same agreement are evaluated by the ICA in the order in which they are received.

If the agency, having accepted the application with a conditional decision, finds that the conditions attached to leniency are not fulfilled, it shall promptly inform the applicant accordingly. Failure to comply with the conditions attached to leniency after a conditional decision is issued shall disqualify the undertaking from any benefits in relation to the agreement in question.

Brief description of leniency
The first five applicants may be granted an administrative fine reduction; only the first applicant is granted a 100% fine reduction which represents immunity.

A 100% fine reduction can only be granted for the first applicant that filed an application before the JFTC Investigation Commencement Date (day on which JFTC formally launched an investigation by taking certain actions such as inspection or search and seizure). Subsequent applicants may be granted a fine reduction of up to 50%. The maximum number of applicants cannot be more than five, and for applications submitted after the JFTC Investigation Commencement Date cannot be more than three.

Applicants on or after the JFTC Investigation Commencement Date must submit information that is not already known to the JFTC or evidence that is not already in the JFTC’s possession. There is no consideration of the evidence’s degree of added value.

The application must be submitted using special report forms: before the JFTC Investigation Commencement Date—Form 1 (request for marker), Form 2 (application); after JFTC Investigation Commencement Date—Form 3 (application).

Individuals
In terms of administrative liability, officers or employees are not separately liable from their undertaking. However, they may be subject to individual criminal sanctions (imprisonment and / or criminal fines). The leniency programme does not extend to criminal immunity. However, when it comes to leniency, under JFTC policy, the JFTC does not refer the reported matter of the first undertaking (first-in applicant) to the Public Prosecutors’ Office thereby providing criminal immunity to the first applicant. Furthermore, such criminal immunity is extended to officers and employees of the first corporate applicant involved in the reported matter on the condition that the officers and employees cooperate with the JFTC in the same extent as their undertaking.

Any person that is directly responsible for participating in a cartel can apply for leniency before or during an investigation before the Investigative Authority of COFECE. Firms, officers, employees and former employees can apply for leniency directly.

The application can only be done by sending an email or leaving a voice mail at the corresponding designated address and number to ensure the right order of the applications received. The applicant receives a marker and has time to perfect it and collect all possible evidence.

Immunity under the Norwegian leniency programme is called full leniency and a fine reduction is called partial leniency.

Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant which informs the NCA of an undetected cartel and provides evidence that enables the NCA to conduct an inspection or to prove the cartel infringement.

Applicants which do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the NCA. The extent of the fine reduction depends essentially on two factors: the time of submission of the evidence important to the case and the value of this evidence.

For immunity applications, the undertaking can also submit the evidence in hypothetical terms. In such cases, the undertaking shall give a clear description of the nature and content of the evidence so that the NCA has a basis to assess whether the evidence fulfils the requirements for granting full leniency. The NCA will set a time limit for submission of the evidence.

Individuals

Only undertakings can apply for leniency. However, the NCA has been assigned considerable discretion to decide whether an individual should be reported to the prosecuting authorities in a specific case. The NCA may grant individuals an advance commitment not to report the criminal offence to the prosecuting authorities if certain conditions are met (a no-action letter). The conditions for such advance commitment are generally the same as the conditions for full leniency.

Individuals can apply for leniency independently from the undertaking. They must meet all the criteria and provide the required information. An application of an undertaking which is consistent with all the requirements also covers individuals.

If immunity is granted to an undertaking, the individuals cannot be fined. If an undertaking is granted a fine reduction, the fine imposed on the individual is reduced on the same basis provided the individual cooperates with the agency during the proceedings.

An individual can be granted immunity or a fine reduction even if the undertaking does not obtain immunity or a reduced fine.

Individuals cannot be fined for bid rigging under Polish competition law. They may, however, be subject to personal criminal liability (imprisonment for up to three years).

Brief description of leniency

Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant which informs the OCCP of a cartel and provides evidence that enables the OCCP to launch an investigation or to prove the cartel infringement, if the investigation has already been initiated by the OCCP.

Applicants which do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence that brings significant added value to the one already collected by the OCCP. The extent of the fine reduction depends essentially on two factors: the time of submission of the evidence important to the case and the value of this evidence.

The withdrawal of the application or its rejection after the conditional confirmation that the leniency conditions have been fulfilled has no effect on the order of the other submitted applications.

A leniency application can be also submitted by fax or e-mail. For applications submitted by fax, or via an electronic form without a certified electronic signature, it is necessary to provide the OCCP with the duly executed original of the application within five business days.

Brief description of leniency
An applicant which reports its cartel activity before the commencement of the KFTC’s investigation and which is the first to provide sufficient evidence of that cartel will be granted immunity including an exemption from administrative sanctions, such as corrective orders and administrative fines, as well as from referral to the Prosecutor’s Office. Reduction in fines is obtainable only for the second-in applicant and only within the first two years from the moment a member of a cartel files the first leniency application with the KFTC or begins to cooperate with the KFTC as the first party providing cooperation with respect to the cartel. The subsequent applicants may benefit from a reduction of fines of up to 30% that can be granted outside of the leniency programme on the basis of its cooperation with the KFTC investigation.

In principle, a leniency application must be prepared and submitted using the KFTC’s leniency application form. There is no formal marker regulation under the Korean leniency programme. It is possible to submit a shortened application and apply for additional time for the submission of information and evidence, which in fact can be assumed as a marker. However, it is with great scrutiny that the KFTC confirms the first place to the first applicant. Furthermore, it has become increasingly difficult to secure the first place in a queue at the KFTC hearing which occurs later than the hearing for the main cartel case. As the place of an applicant in the queue can only be confirmed at the KFTC hearing, an applicant cannot be guaranteed a marker before then.

In the case of the leniency plus programme, the extent of the fine reduction obtained depends on the size of the second cartel, i.e., whether it is smaller or bigger than the first one. This is determined by the amount by which the sales of the relevant goods and services have been affected.

Brief description of leniency
Leniency in Russia can be obtained during an administrative or criminal procedure. A leniency application is usually filed during an administrative procedure and is taken into account while initiating a criminal procedure.

Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant which informs the FAS of a cartel and provides them with new evidence which can help the FAS to prove the cartel infringement. The second and third applicant may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide sufficient evidence to prove the cartel infringement. The forth and the subsequent applicants may benefit from a reduced fine outside of the leniency programme if they fulfill certain conditions (e.g. such as cooperation with the agency, termination of participation in cartel) and did not initiate the cartel. Such a reduction is smaller than the one within the leniency (1/8 of the difference between maximum and minimum fine admissible for such an applicant). In practice criminal investigations are initiated after the administrative investigation is conducted by the competition agency, taking into account the FAS decision on leniency. In order to obtain leniency in criminal proceedings, an applicant is obliged to compensate fully for harm caused by its participation in a cartel. Damages are calculated by the FAS in the course of the investigation and should be approved by the police. In general, the applicant is obliged to bring sufficient evidence and information to verify a cartel at the moment of filing an application. The applicant is given a confirmation of receipt that is used only to permit the first applicant to apply for immunity, and the second or third applicant to apply for a fine reduction.

A leniency application can be submitted during the whole period of the investigation, even after the Statement of Objections is published by the FAS but no later than its final decision.

In practice, criminal investigations against the officials are initiated after the administrative investigation is conducted by the competition agency, taking into account, the FAS decision on leniency. In order to obtain leniency in criminal proceedings, an applicant is obliged to compensate fully for harm caused by its participation in a cartel. Damages are calculated by the FAS in the course of the investigation and should be approved by the police.

Individuals
Both companies and individuals can apply for leniency during the administrative procedure. In practice, companies and individuals do not apply for leniency separately. Only individuals can apply for leniency during the criminal procedure.

Immunity may only be granted to the first applicant who informs the SCA of a cartel or other anti-competitive cooperation, whether horizontal or vertical, open or secret. The applicant must either (i) produce evidence that enables the SCA to conduct an inspection, (ii) prove the infringement or (iii) in any other way facilitate to a significant extent the SCA’s investigation. Upon request by the applicant, the SCA shall state in a decision whether the conditions for granting immunity in accordance with point (i) are fulfilled. The decision is binding on the SCA as well as on the court. Such a request is not possible in relation to points (ii) or (iii).

Undertakings who do not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if they provide evidence of considerable value that to a significant extent facilitate the investigation. The extent of the fine reduction depends essentially on two factors: the time of submission of the evidence important to the case and the value of this evidence.

Brief Description of Leniency

Only the first applicant is eligible for full immunity. The Competition Commission (ComCo) grants an undertaking full immunity from sanctions if it provides information that enables the ComCo to open proceedings, or if it provides evidence enabling ComCo to prove a hard core infringement of competition. This can be a cartel but also a vertical agreement. An undertaking which does not qualify for immunity may benefit from a reduction of fines if it voluntarily cooperates in proceedings and if it terminates its participation in the infringement of competition law no later than at the time at which it submits evidence. In an explanatory report, the ComCo indicates that such a reduction of fine may even be possible in cases of abuse of dominance for which full immunity will not be available. The reduction can be up to 50% and depends on the importance of the undertaking’s contribution to the success of the proceedings. The amount of the sanction can be reduced up to 80% if an undertaking voluntarily provides information of submits evidence on further infringements of competition (leniency plus).

It is possible to obtain a marker for immunity applications. The marker is the declaration that the undertaking will submit a leniency application. The timestamp of the marker determines the rank of the leniency application if the latter is submitted in due course supplementing the marker. The Secretariat of the ComCo acknowledges receipt of the leniency application, indicating the date and time. It informs the applicant of any additional information to be submitted and in the case of an anonymous leniency application of the period within which the undertaking must disclose its identity. The Secretariat finally informs the applicant in consultation with a member of the presiding body of the ComCo of the extent to which it concerns the requirements for complete immunity from the sanction as fulfilled.

The ComCo shall consider subsequently received applications for immunity from fines only after a decision concerning the first leniency application. If the marker of the first applicant is not supplemented by a leniency application containing all required information it will be disregarded and the rank it occupied becomes available again. If that is the case, the ComCo will contact the subsequent marker applicant.

The ComCo will decide at the end of the proceedings whether to grant complete immunity from a sanction. It may only depart from the previous communication by the Secretariat if it subsequently receives information precluding it from granting of immunity. All undertakings having submitted leniency applications have a duty to cooperate during the entire proceedings that goes beyond the usual obligation to cooperate in administrative procedures. This duty encompasses, in particular, the willingness to make statements during interviews, to respond to requests for information, as well as to submit, voluntarily or upon request of the authorities, all evidence (including international evidence) which is accessible to the undertaking. If its cooperation is insufficient, the undertaking may lose the guaranteed immunity from the sanction.

- Brief description of leniency
  - Full immunity from administrative fines may be granted only to the first applicant which notifies the AMC about the violation prior to issuing a statement of objections in the relevant case. The applicant has to provide all available evidence and/or information concerning the violation, and such information should be material for establishing the violation, sufficiently meaningful for the AMC to find an infringement.

  - Fine reduction is not available under the leniency programme. However, according to the AMC’s public statements the authority will adequately reward subsequent applicants for effective cooperation in collection of evidence (without specifying or limiting their number). Under general rule, the fine may be reduced of up to 50% of the basic amount of fine if there are any attenuating circumstances.

  - The AMC is not required to make any indication as to whether the conditions are met by the applicant and whether immunity is likely to be granted until rendering the final decision in the case. The formal decision is preceded by the preliminary conclusions indicating aggravating/attenuating circumstances which should be taken into account when determining the level of fine.

  - It is possible to inquire the AMC whether an investigation has been opened or a marker has been issued. The AMC responds within a working day about an opened investigation (if any) or a granted marker (if any).

COUNTRY
United Kingdom

AGENCY
Competition and Markets Authority (CMA)

Brief description of leniency
The CMA in the United Kingdom offers immunity or leniency to undertakings that confess their involvement in a cartel. It can prevent an individual from being prosecuted in England, Wales or Northern Ireland and from being disqualified as a director.

Total immunity from fines will be given to the first undertaking to provide the CMA with evidence of cartel activity before the CMA starts an investigation (Type A Immunity). At the CMA’s discretion, an undertaking may also receive total immunity if it is the first to provide the CMA with evidence of cartel activity after the CMA starts an investigation but before it issues a Statement of Objections (Type B Immunity).

Where Type A Immunity or Type B Immunity is given to an undertaking, blanket immunity is automatically given to all current and former employees and directors who cooperate with the CMA.

Individuals may receive a no-action letter from the CMA granting them immunity from prosecution. The CMA may grant a no-action letter if an individual fulfills the requirements, including admitting taking part in the cartel and cooperating completely and continuously throughout the investigation.

Where Type A Immunity or Type B Immunity is given to an undertaking, blanket immunity is automatically given to all current and former employees and directors who cooperate with the CMA.

The CMA may choose to grant individual immunity to a select number of the current or former employees or directors of the undertaking.

The CMA will not normally apply for a Competition Disqualification Order against any of the current directors of the undertaking that has been given immunity or leniency in relation to the activity to which the immunity or leniency relates.

The CMA will not normally apply for a Competition Disqualification Order against any of the current directors of the undertaking that has been given immunity or leniency in relation to the activity to which the immunity or leniency relates.

Brief description of leniency
The DOJ has both a corporate leniency policy and an individual leniency policy. Leniency in the United States means that the DOJ will not criminally charge an individual or an undertaking and its employees for their reported conduct. The leniency programme applies only to the first-in applicant.

There are two types of leniency:
- Type A Leniency
- Type B Leniency

Type A Leniency is only available before an investigation has begun. Type B Leniency is available even after an investigation has begun. However, in the latter case the DOJ determines whether granting leniency would be unfair to others, taking into account how early the undertaking came forward and whether it was the leader and/or originator of the illegal activity. The applicant must confess the wrong-doing. In the case of a company, the wrong-doing must be a corporate act, as opposed to that of an individual executive or officer.

In order to obtain leniency, the undertaking must make appropriate restitution. In most cases the DOJ will not require the leniency applicant to make direct restitution to the victims of the violation. The DOJ recognizes that identifying the victims and determining an appropriate restitution amount is difficult and complex. It will be determined during through private civil damage litigation.

There is no leniency policy expressly addressing subsequent (later than the first-in) applicants. Details of the cooperation and benefits are determined on a case-by-case basis. Companies that come in earlier and provide more valuable cooperation can obtain greater benefits.

Affirmative Amnesty occurs when the DOJ discovers potential cartel conduct before anyone has sought immunity. The DOJ then approaches an “insider” disclosing the existence of the investigation, and exchanges immunity for the insider’s cooperation in exposing the inner workings of the cartel.

There is no uniform leniency profer. Initial contact with the DOJ is generally conducted orally due to discovery risks in subsequent private damage actions.

If an immunity applicant misrepresents facts or fails to fully cooperate with the DOJ, the DOJ can rescind an immunity agreement. To date the DOJ has only attempted this action once.

Individuals
An individual may qualify for immunity even if the undertaking does not seek immunity. An individual may qualify for immunity only if the DOJ has not already received information about the illegal activity from another source.

If an undertaking qualifies for Type A Leniency, its officers, directors, and employees can also qualify for immunity and will not be prosecuted criminally if they admit their involvement in the illegal activity, and cooperate in the investigation. If an undertaking does not qualify for Type A Leniency, individual immunity is considered by the DOJ under the Individual Leniency Policy. In case of second-in and subsequent applicants, benefits for individuals are determined on a case-by-case basis.

Through the proceedings, applicant(s) must cooperate and comply with requirements.

REQUIREMENTS FOR UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
- Termination of participation: upon discovery of the activity, unless continued participation is with DOJ’s approval.
